

Off-season

A small part of the hut stays opened also during the off-season (from middle of October until the middle of February and from the middle of May until the middle of June). It consists of the entrance area equipped with a SOS telephone (you only can reach the air-medical help on the phone number 1414), one dining room and one sleeping room with two beds and some more mattresses. Those areas of the hut are not heatable.

In the hut is also one locked room (key deposit) that can be heated. In this room there's a small wood oven which can be used for cooking or melting of snow to get water. For the overnight in the hut a reservation is necessary in every case (contact: info@fornohuette.ch). After the reservation you get the information about the key deposit. The price for the stay is CHF 25.-/ night for members of an alpine club or CHF 35.-/ night for non-members. The wood for the oven is included in that price. Inside the hut the use of gaz or open fires is restricted. Please be aware that in the whole off-season there's no electricity in the hut. Between October and February there is additionally no water available in and around the Forno Hut. So, during this time, all the washrooms and toilets are completely closed.
